LANCASTER, Pa. — (AP) — The Lancaster county jail stood in need of a revolving door today in the dispute between Pennsylvania's school authorities and a group of bearded Amish farmers.

As fast as the Amishmen went to jail rather than pay fines for refusing to send their children to school, an unidentified benefactor bailed them out.

The Amishmen—members of a black-garbed religious sect that frowns on movies, buttons and other forms of ostentation—contend their children at the age of 14 should remain on the farm and no longer mingle with non-Amish youngsters in the state's schools.

The state compulsory school attendance law calls for formal education up to the age of 16.

Three days ago, six Amish farmers elected to serve three-day sentences. They were released when their fines were paid by an unknown who said only that he was a friend of the Amish.

On Wednesday, 12 more Amish farmers chose jail rather than pay fines. They, too, were released when the unidentified benefactor supplied the $176.25 levied against them.

Mafia Society Murders Bared

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — A mysterious Sicilian society and its underworld operations came under scrutiny of the Senate crime investigating committee today.

The organization is the Mafia. A witness told the committee, holding a three-day hearing in President Truman's home county, that Mafia was linked with gambling, murder, narcotics and other crime in many of the nation's cities.

Among persons summoned to testify today—the second day of the hearing—were several whose names were mentioned in connection with the Mafia society.

Claude A. Folmer, a federal narcotics agent, told the committee yesterday: "For many years Kansas City has been the scene of violence, bloodshed, and terror in connection with traffic in illicit narcotics, involving for the most part persons of Sicilian origin banded together in a secret society known as the Mafia."

He detailed operations of a narcotics ring shattered here in 1942. The agent testified that five murders in the last few years have been connected with the narcotics ring and the trials that broke it up.

Kerosene Fire Death Proves Mystery For Berrien Authorities

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. — (AP) — Berrien county authorities seeking to solve a Sunday night kerosene fire death today questioned a 45-year-old migrant farm laborer held by Elyria, O., sheriff's deputies.

Robert Voskey, Jamaican berry picker also known as Bert Johnson, was held for investigation of murder in the death of Oliver Young, 35-year-old Negro who shared his Sodus township tenant farm shanty.

Berrien County Sheriff Erwin Kubath and Prosecutor Joseph Killian went to Elyria yesterday to question Voskey after he was picked up there on a tip to police.

William Kirkman, employer of Young and Voskey, discovered Young's burned body on a bed doused with kerosene Monday after he noticed smoke curling out of the shack.

Young's wallet and clothing were gone, Kirkman said. His skull had been fractured. Kirkman said Voskey had been drinking Sunday night.

Slide Crushes Homes

GOETEBORG, Sweden. — (AP) — A giant landslide crushed approximately 40 houses and moved a railroad 100 yards in Surte today. Only one person is known to have been killed, police said.

Walter S. Gifford

Robert P. Patterson

IN CAPITAL SPOTLIGHT—The White House announced Walter S. Gifford, 65-year-old retired president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., has been named by President Truman as ambassador to Great Britain, replacing Lewis W. Douglas, who resigned. Gifford served as secretary of the U. S. delegation to the inter-Allied munitions council during World War I, later directed national unemployment relief in 1931-32. Washington rumors also spotlight Robert P. Patterson, former Secretary of War, as General Marshall's Undersecretary of Defense, with the idea that later on he'll step up to the job Marshall holds.

Hand-Picked State Ticket Ready For Michigan Democrats

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — (AP) — As 1,243 delegates gathered today for the Democratic state convention, a pre-chosen ticket which reportedly had the inside track was the main topic of discussion.

On the basis of this talk, Governor Williams and Lieut. Gov. John W. Connolly would have the following as their running mates against the Republicans this fall:

Stephen J. Roth, the incumbent, for attorney general.

Philip A. Hart, state corporations and securities commissioner, for secretary of state.

Maurice C. Eveland, state banking commissioner, for state treasurer.

Mrs. Margaret Price, who ran for the office two years ago, for auditor general.

Backed By CIO This ticket reportedly has the backing of Governor Williams and some of it, at least, of the powerful CIO stalwarts.

John W. Gibson, who recently resigned as assistant secretary of labor, may upset things with his candidacy for the secretary of state slot.

It was understood that the governor favored Hart while CIO leaders were backing Gibson. If this pre-convention split is not healed before the convention opens Saturday morning, it will provide an interesting test of strength between the governor and the CIO leadership.

Theodore I. Fry, former state treasurer, may make a floor fight of his candidacy for the nomination to return to that office.

There are some among the delegates who are looking for another candidate for auditor general, contending that a man would lend more strength to the ticket.

Tom Walsh of Grand Rapids and Michael J. Hart, former Saginaw congressman, have been mentioned for the post.

Roth was conceded to be a virtual certainty for the nomination to succeed himself, through there was some talk that former counsel George Edwards of Detroit might have a try at it.

The party rank and file was watching for repercussions from the Detroit delegate fight which climaxed with the announcement of George S. Fitzgerald, national committeeman, that he would stay away from the convention.

More May Bolt He said he could not attend a convention whose delegates "were chosen by storm trooper methods." After a number of elected delegates were excluded from the 14th district convention a week ago, the followers of Fitzgerald and the AFL teamsters union left leaving the convention in control of the CIO forces.

There was a possibility that other key old-guard Democrats from Detroit and outside districts would follow Fitzgerald's lead and boycott the convention.

Russia Called Power-Hungry WASHINGTON — (AP) — The state department officially described Russia today as "a power-hungry government that is bent on spreading its power by force, terror."

In a policy outline drafted at President Truman's suggestion, the department said that since 1945 the Soviet Union has annexed some 7,500,000 square miles of new territory and has taken more than 50,000,000 people under its control.

"It is now trying to extend its empire across Asia," the department added.

These new denunciations of Russia were contained in a 100-page booklet entitled "Our Foreign Policy." In a brief foreword, Mr. Truman said he suggested the work to "set down as simply and clearly as possible what we are after in our relations with other governments and their peoples."

A first printing of 50,000 booklets has been ordered so the booklets can be distributed to private organizations, clubs and libraries in the United States and abroad.

The booklet, written in simple language, seeks to explode Moscow's theory that the present world tension stems from a conflict between capitalism and communism.

Soviet Border Guards Stop Berlin Trucks HELMSTEDT, Germany. — (AP) — Russian zone border guards clamped a new slow-down on West German truck traffic to Berlin today.

About 200 Berlin-bound trucks were queuing up in front of the Helmstedt border barrier at midday.

Only about three or four trucks an hour were being cleared through the barrier. Soviet zone guards made slow, intensive searches of each truck. There was no explanation for the action.

Gen. Eisenhower May Head Defense Army In Europe

Widow Of Ford Taken By Death At Age Of 84

DETROIT — (AP) — Mrs. Henry Ford, widow of the world-famed automobile pioneer, died early today at the age of 84.

The farmer's daughter who came to great wealth and renown through her husband's genius and her faith in his work was the victim of a heart ailment.

She died at 2 a. m. (EST) in Henry Ford hospital. A family spokesman said the cause of death was acute coronary occlusion.

Helpmeet Of Husband For some time Mrs. Ford had been troubled with a heart condition and in recent months she had twice visited the hospital.

On each occasion she had returned to the Ford estate, "Fairlane," in suburban Dearborn and continued active in her household and rose garden.

Yesterday she entered the hospital for the last time. Only a few persons close to the family knew that her condition had again worsened.

Clara Bryant Ford and Henry Ford spent 60 years of wedded life together until the husband's death in 1947.

Over the six decades they were known as a devoted couple. It was said of Mrs. Ford that she was constantly at her husband's side as advisor and helpmeet from the time of his early days in a small machine shop until he became world-famous.

Their only son, Edsel, died in 1943. At that time he was president of the Ford Motor Co., as successor to his father. The elder Ford had then retired.

Rose Garden Is Hobby Ford, who always credited Clara with much responsibility for his accomplishments, called his wife "the believer." He used to say that she never doubted his ultimate success in the original lean days when he worked day and night at his mechanics.

Each, as it turned out, had the same span of life—84 years. Ford was that age when he died in the spring of 1947.

Despite her heart condition, Mrs. Ford refused to give up all her activities.

Only this summer a group of flower-lovers visited her beautiful rose garden at "Fairlane" and Mrs. Ford was on hand to show the guests about and talk of this and that.

Mrs. Ford, one of ten children of a pioneer Michigan farmer, was born in southern Michigan, April 11, 1866. She met Henry when she was 18. Three years later they married. Ford was then 25.

Seoul Restored To South Koreans; Communists Chased Across Border

TOKYO — (AP) — South Korean forces chased broken-down Communist invader units to the parallel 38 border of Red North Korea tonight and were called to a halt by the Allied command.

The Allied vanguard was pouring artillery fire on Red positions astride the line between the Red north and Democratic south.

Wait For Regrouping A U. S. 8th army headquarters spokesman said the South Koreans were ordered to stop their advance and wait for what he called regrouping. He declined to say or speculate on what would happen after regrouping took place.

There was still no announced decision on whether the victorious Allied armies in the south would strike into Red Korea to police it against any future invasion or Soviet-inspired uprisings.

Nor was there any indication that border-crossing might be left alone to the U. N.-armed South

Koreans or other non-American Allies as had been suggested in diplomatic circles elsewhere.

Among the suggestions was that Americans might be kept out of any police force going north of 38 in order not to provoke bordering Red China and nearby Soviet Siberia.

Capital Handed Over The advancing South Koreans in twin armored prongs stabbed up to the Red border on the east coast.

Other South Koreans were reported nearing 38 due north of Seoul, the liberated Korean capital 30 miles south of the border.

The South Korean third division was the first to fight the Reds on the 38th parallel. AP correspondent Leif Erickson, flying over the east coastal area on an observation mission, reported the South Korean big gun shells plumed into ridges on the boundary line.

General MacArthur handed Seoul over during the day to President Syngman Rhee and conferred on what might be done when Allied troops reached the border.

Then MacArthur flew back to Tokyo without saying what had been decided.

Atrocities Revealed Back in Seoul, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker told correspondents "the war is over." He said United Nations forces had slain 75,000 Reds in the past three months "and before we are through mopping up the resistance this total will be even larger."

Evidences of Red atrocities multiplied. AP Correspondent Ben Price reported the bodies of nearly 400 South Korean civilians and police were found Thursday night in two uncovered trenches at the Taejon prison. An undetermined number of other bodies were found in two open wells have time for politics, he hasn't shown it.

He told reporters yesterday that the Korean matter isn't settled, and added that there is a tremendous job ahead in building up American military might.

Mr. Truman came to the news conference loaded with "no comments" about the book's contention that he once had said James F. Byrnes "failed miserably" as secretary of state.

The president wouldn't say whether he had read any of the book in advance, whether he liked it or whether its quotes were correct.

This had the indirect effect of letting stand unchallenged an attack on Byrnes. The latter is in line to become the next Democratic governor of South Carolina and the spearhead of anti-Truman sentiment among southern Democrats.

These party leaders want strong, Democratic talk.

They will get some of it, of course, from Vice President Barkley, who is taking to the stump next week in a month-long round of speeches.

His itinerary was announced today by the Democratic national committee. Barkley will cover the country from California to Connecticut, making 42 speeches between Oct. 5 and Nov. 6. He will travel by chartered plane.

If Mr. Truman intends to depart from his stated position of being too occupied with the Korean war and the rearmament program to

Military Priorities Take Effect Soon In Factories And Mines

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government soon will announce a priority order directing factories, mills and mines to fill military orders ahead of any others.

Aids of William H. Harrison, administrator of the National Production Authority, said today the regulation is due this week-end or early next week. Thy said it will be simple but mandatory.

No Tire Rationing The officials disclosed that several other orders—setting up allocations, or limiting the civilian use of scarce materials—can be expected in "the near future."

One of them, NPA announced last night, will allocate synthetic rubber to tire firms and other rubber companies. Officials said foreseen no need to ration tires or gasoline.

These moves underlined President Truman's assertion that the armament program will forge ahead at full speed despite the apparent collapse of Communist invasion forces in Korea.

NPA sources said no provision will be made at present to speed deliveries in "essential civilian" or mixed defense-civilian activities, such as transportation and farming.

NPA's rubber industry advisory committee met with Harrison yesterday to review the pending order under which synthetic rubber will be allocated.

The agency announced that each rubber company will receive a quota consisting of a percentage of the total new rubber, both natural and synthetic, the company used in the year ended last June 30.

A reserve will be set aside by NPA out of which special allotments will be given to take care of hardship cases.

Army Goal Set At Million Men WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States apparently is planning to have an army nearly 1,000,000-men strong by next March.

The House Armed Services committee is at work on changes in the draft law which Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said are needed to "attain the size of the army contemplated." But Vinson said the exact figure could not be disclosed now.

Before the army stopped giving out the monthly number of enlistments, it had an announced strength of 591,000 in June 30. The defense department said 50,000 were inducted in September under the revived draft.

Vinson and department officials announced yesterday the army will need 300,000 more men in the next six months.

In addition the army is calling 4,600 doctors and dentists, Vinson said, the large majority of them under the special medical draft bill recently enacted.

It appeared likely that one early step may be wiping out deferment for married men in the 19-26 age group if they have no children.

The army favors men in this age group in comparison to older men. At present men 19 through 26 who have dependents or who are veterans with more than 90 days' military service are exempt.

Allied Forces Of 12 Nations To Be Merged

U. S. Officer Favored For High Command

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Speculation increased today that President Truman may appoint Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to command the projected international army to defend western Europe.

This talk is based in part on what Mr. Truman said about Eisenhower at his news conference yesterday and in part on the fact that Washington officials believe a man of outstanding reputation and proved ability should get the supreme command post.

The mere naming of such a man, high officials say, would help to create in non-Communist Europe a new sense of confidence and progress toward real security.

Always Available Mr. Truman was asked at the news conference whether he was considering General Eisenhower for some new job, probably in Europe. He replied that Eisenhower is always available at the President's call but that he has not considered him because there is no appointment to make yet.

The foreign ministers of the 12 North Atlantic treaty nations decided in New York earlier this week that allied forces for the defense of Europe should be merged into a single army under a general staff composed of officers of all the cooperating nations and headed eventually by a supreme

Red China Wins Long UN Fight NEW YORK — (AP) — The U. N. security council voted 7 to 4 today to permit Communist China's participation in the council's Formosa debate after Nov. 15.

Council President Sir Gladwyn Jebb of Great Britain ruled that the proposal was adopted. Nationalist China immediately challenged the ruling on the ground she had vetoed the resolution.

The resolution on which the council voted was introduced by Ecuador. Yugoslavia withdrew a similar resolution of her own when the council convened.

Wife Hated Child Found Killed In Icebox At Tampa TAMPA, Fla. — (AP) — Robert M. Tapp, whose estranged wife is charged with the icebox murder of their nine-year-old son, said she disliked the boy because "he was my namesake."

Tipp flew here last night from South Bend, Ind., where he has been working in an airplane plant since he and his wife, Lois, separated last March.

He said he would stand by Mrs. Tipp, charged with first degree murder after the body of Bobby, shot twice, was found stuffed in an unused refrigerator at her beach tavern.

Tipp told police that Mrs. Tipp had called Bobby a problem child and had an aversion for him.

U. P. Industrial Action Group Meets Saturday

The Upper Peninsula's economic problems, which have been spotlighted by recent census figures revealing a 20 per cent decline in population in the past decade, will be discussed at a conference of the Industrial Action committee of the U. P. Development Bureau at the House of Lunding here Saturday.

The conference will open with a business session in the Marine room at 10 a. m. A luncheon will be held at noon when Emerson Poag, retired General Motors advertising-sales executive, will be the speaker. Mr. Poag, now a member of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation commission, will give a report of a study he has made of the Upper Peninsula the past several weeks.

Will Draft Program

The Industrial Action committee will make its final draft of a program for industrial development at tomorrow's meeting. The program will be submitted for approval at the meeting of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau at Blaney Park on Oct. 7.

Representatives of small and large industries, universities, chambers of commerce, the Michigan Department of Economic Development and the Michigan Unemployment commission will discuss industrial problems, such as marketing, costs and production procedures.

The Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton, which has done considerable research in the past few years, has assigned Arlie A. Toole and F. J. Partlo to the conference, while the University of Michigan will be represented by Jerome J. Hoeffler, a research associate of the Bureau of Business Research and a former Ontonagon resident.

Will Attend

William F. Batt Jr., Washington, D. C., deputy assistant to the secretary of labor, will participate in the conference. He is the son of the president of the S-K-F ball bearing industry in Philadelphia. The Michigan Unemployment commission will be represented by Emerson Poag, Saginaw; John F. Cassin, Fort Huron; Harry Markle, Detroit; Dr. R. M. Ashley, Wyandotte; O. K. Fjelland, Detroit; and Albert C. Gavoda, Hancock. Ben F. Clark of Lansing and Arne Ervart of Laurium have been assigned to the conference by the Michigan Department of Economic Development.

Among the Chamber of Commerce secretaries who will be present are: Hugh Grow, Escanaba; Jeff Bodette, Munising; Wm. H. Frederick, Manistique; William L. Johnson, Ironwood; Ben E. Knause, Marquette; Francis C. Pigeon, Ontonagon; and Ray P. Laufenberg, Menominee.

Manufacturers Invited

Operators of industries, who would like to obtain counsel on their problems, are invited to attend. George Polich, manufacturer's agent of Crystal Falls, who represents about twenty small industries in the U. P., will be available for advice on marketing problems. Several industrialists also

W-C To Use New Navigation Aid

Will Prevent Delays And Cancellations

Wisconsin Central Airlines has secured approval from the Civil Aeronautics Administration to use a new navigational device and procedure developed by the airline itself which supplements its present navigational facilities. The new development is expected to further reduce flight cancellations and delays due to bad weather flying by as much as 50 per cent.

The navigational device has been installed at the Brown County Airport at Green Bay and at the Rock County Airport serving Janesville-Beloit on a test basis. Proving runs conducted by CAA during the past month, with both facilities have resulted in grant-in-reduced weather minimums from a 700-foot ceiling (base of clouds to the earth) at these two airports to a 400-foot ceiling. This is a lower minimum than has been permitted by CAA for the standard non-directional radio navigation beacon in general use by many of the scheduled airlines.

The new device and procedure has also been tentatively approved by CAA for use at the airports at Stevens Point, Wisconsin, and at St. Cloud, Brainerd and Hibbing in Minnesota. The installation of the new facilities will be made at these airports within the next thirty days, the airline advised. Other airports on the airline's system have presented navigational problems that require further study before the new device and procedure can be adopted to them, it stated.

Wisconsin Central Airlines' new electronic navigational unit has been called a Station Identifier and was developed and built in the radio department of the airline. It is incorporated into the ground radio transmitters of the airline at each airport where the installation is desired. In operation the device provides the airline pilots when flying over instrument in bad weather with two known points over the airport where a landing is to be made. Previously, non-directional navigational aids only provided the pilots with one known point. With the two known points over the airport, the let-down procedure through the clouds is simplified and more accurate resulting in the lower weather minimums granted the airline.

Students Test For Butterfat In Powers School

How much milk and butterfat does Bessie produce?

This is a familiar question at Powers-Spalding high school, and students in vocational-agricultural classes are rapidly getting the answers.

Each month, boys in the agricultural class test cows for butterfat, and keep accurate records. In the first week of class, they were taught the Babcock method of testing, and subsequently each boy collected samples and tested his herd.

Students are testing 24 herds of dairy cows, and each boy tests about 10. In the first month, records show that the three highest herds, according to monthly butterfat production, were tested by Raymond Wells, William Wells and Edward Wery. The herds averaged 40, 39 and 36 pounds of butterfat per cow in the first month.

This month Ed Wery tested the cow which showed the highest percentage test. The milk tested 8.4 per cent butterfat.

Students will test their herds again the second week in October.

The first European to visit the present site of Kansas City is believed to have been Etienne de Bourgmont, in 1712.

GOP State Candidates To Come Here Oct. 11

Former Governor Harry F. Kelly and the remainder of the entire slate of Republican candidates for state offices will be in Escanaba Wednesday evening, Oct. 11, for a dinner and rally.

Ex-Gov. Kelly and his party have scheduled a five-day itinerary in the Upper Peninsula that week.

Accompanying Mr. Kelly on the Peninsula tour will be: Fred M. Alger, candidate for reelection as secretary of state.

D. Hale Brake, candidate for reelection as state treasurer. William C. Vandenberg, state senator from Holland, candidate for lieutenant governor.

John B. Martin, Jr., Grand Rapids attorney and Rhodes scholar, candidate for auditor general. Frank G. Millard, Flint attorney, candidate for attorney general.

Owen J. Cleary, chairman of the Republican state central committee, and several reporters from metropolitan newspapers, also will accompany the group in the U. P. tour, which will open Monday, Oct. 9, with an evening meeting in Houghton.

A rally and luncheon-meeting will be held at noon Tuesday, Oct. 10, in Ironwood, and from there Mr. Kelly and his party will go to Marquette.

From Marquette, the GOP candidates will go to Iron Mountain, where a luncheon-meeting and rally will be held at noon, Wednesday, Oct. 11. That night the dinner-meeting will be held in Escanaba.

On Thursday, Oct. 12, Mr. Kelly and his party will go to Sault Ste. Marie, for a meeting and rally. That night, a GOP rally and meeting will be held in Boyne City.

Call Chronic Drinkers Challenge To Community

"Alcoholism is a disease of such magnitude that it represents a challenge to every community," said the conclusion of "Mr. Ralph," member of Alcoholics Anonymous, in his talk last night at a public meeting in Wm. Oliver auditorium, Escanaba Junior high school. It was the first meeting of its kind in Escanaba since the local AA unit was organized one and one-half years ago.

Purpose of the meeting was to acquaint the public with the objectives and the program of Alcoholics Anonymous, an organization, dedicated to assist the drinker with a problem.

Not Reformers

Delta Probate Judge William J. Miller introduced the speakers, including "Mr. Ralph" of Kenosha, an AA member of his hometown unit; and the Rev. Robert Spencer of Waupaca, Wis., who is not an AA member. Because of his membership in AA and the anonymity assured its members at the public level, the full name of "Mr. Ralph" was not revealed.

"We are not reformers, we are not crusaders or prohibitionists," said the speaker. "We are just a bunch of ex-drunkers who want to help others who want help in solving their drinking problem."

The history of AA that began 15 years ago and has grown into the nation's most effective program to help the alcoholic was traced by the speaker.

The AA Can Help

He urged any man or woman with a drinking problem to write, to contact their local AA unit.

"Mr. Ralph" told of his personal history with alcohol, beginning as a teen-age "smart aleck" drinker in high school. He continued his drinking through two years at a university and then into the business and social world.

"I thought I had to drink to be a success in business and to keep up with the Joneses, I thought I had to drink to have friends," he said.

In the last stages of addiction to alcohol he was sent to an institution. Almost by accident he came into contact with Alcoholics Anonymous "where I found that the trouble was not in my body but in my head—in my thinking concerning alcohol. It was not my drinking, but my thinking that was stinking."

"There is no initiation into AA, no dues, no fees," he said. "The only need is a sincere desire for salvation, for humility and gratitude, and to practice helpfulness and charity."

Community Problem

The Rev. Spencer cited some of the Twelve Steps of Alcoholics Anonymous and in particular the recognition of the alcoholic that he needs the help "of a power greater than himself."

He praised the work AA is doing and declared that it has always been his conviction that alcoholism is a community problem. The combined efforts of education, medicine, law enforcement, and the ministry is required to help the person addicted to alcohol, he said.

Judge Miller described his experiences with alcoholics in connection with his work as probate judge and former prosecuting attorney. The chronic alcoholic is not criminal or insane, but a sick person who needs spiritual and physical help, he declared.

Industrial Area Is Recommended

C. of C. Expresses Views On Zoning

The Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, in a resolution adopted at the meeting of the board of directors yesterday, recommended to the Escanaba Planning commission that the city-owned property on 23rd street near the fair grounds be permitted to remain zoned as a light industrial area.

The commission has been considering a proposal to change the area to Class B residential. In the discussion of the matter, it was pointed out at the C. of C. directors' meeting that there are number of light industries in the vicinity at present.

The board recommended to the committee on constitution and by-laws that a period of three years elapse before a director could be reelected to the board, instead of only one year. It also recommended increasing the board membership from 10 to possibly 15 directors.

Disapproval of the United Health and Welfare Fund plan for conducting fund-raising drives in this community was voiced in another motion adopted by the directors.

Social Worker In Auto Crash

Has Second Mishap In Stolen Car

MARQUETTE—A Copper Country social worker who was involved in a three-car smashup near a railroad crossing at Champlain Wednesday night was linked with a second crackup in a stolen automobile was under surveillance in the Ishpeming hospital yesterday.

She is Miss Margaret R. Sincoc, 44, of 109 Florida street, Laurium, a case worker for the Houghton county social welfare department, who is being treated in the hospital for injuries suffered in the accidents.

State police from the Marquette post said the chain of events occurred in this manner:

Car Pushed Into Train

At approximately 7:30 Wednesday evening, Miss Sincoc, driving east on US - 2 rammed her car into a parked auto operated by Conservator Officer Erick W. Palo, Champion, who was waiting for a Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway company freight train to pass by.

The impact pushed Palo's car against another automobile, driven by Glenn C. Gregg, Gwinn, regional supervisor of the parks and recreation department of the state conservation department. Gregg's car, nearest the tracks, went over to the left side of the highway, missing the train, which was going west.

However, Palo's automobile was pushed against the train, which dragged the vehicle for some distance before being stopped.

Suffers Knee Injury

Palo, although his car was a total wreck, escaped serious injury but did suffer a knee wound. Palo and Miss Sincoc were taken to Dr. Paul Van Riper's office, Champion, for treatment of their injuries. State police, in the meantime, were conducting an investigation of the accident.

A short time later, she walked away from the doctor's office and stole a car belonging to Henry LaForest, Champion. Apprehended by Ishpeming Police

Miss Sincoc drove the LaForest car toward Ishpeming, and west of the city became involved in a collision with a car driven by Carl Linna, Ishpeming. Ishpeming city police, who had been notified of the stolen car, apprehended Miss Sincoc and took her to the hospital.

State police said no charges have been placed against Miss Sincoc, pending the outcome of the investigation.

BOON TO HEALTH

America gave the world water as a food. Unaccustomed in the Old World to drinking water as a regular habit, early colonists were forced to do so and found it agreeable and a boon to health.

Federal Inspection Of Local Guard Unit Held

Personnel, equipment, facilities and quality of training of Delta county's Company C, 107th Engineer Combat battalion, Michigan National Guard, were inspected here yesterday by Col. Alexander Adair, of the Fifth Army inspector general's department, Chicago.

Colonel Adair, accompanied by Major Frelsen Reese, Ishpeming, Upper Michigan's Fifth Army instructor, and Major Leonard C.

Ward, of Escanaba, 107th executive officer, left at noon today for Manistique where they will inspect Company D. That will complete the annual federal inspection of all guard units in the Upper Peninsula.

The inspections are conducted regularly, it was pointed out, to make sure Guard units meet federal requirements and are in a state of readiness.

The colonel inspected Company C's administration, weapons, supply, motor vehicles and general armory facilities. Training classes last night covered demolition, care and cleaning of the M-1 rifle and map reading.

The unit had an attendance of 73.8 per cent, against a minimum requirement of 60 per cent. Its total strength is 68, and its authorized strength is 124.

Capt. Roy Johnson is company commander. Company officers are Lieutenants Glenn W. Meintz, George Anderson, Eldred Satten and Steve Fraddo.

Newberry Star On MSC Frosh

EAST LANSING — (AP)—A "physically large" crop of more than 200 freshman football players are working out daily now at Michigan State college.

New freshman coach Steve Sebo and his assistants have arranged a daily scrimmage "games" on a round-robin basis between differing teams.

"The squad appears physically larger than any frosh group in recent years," said Sebo. Observers believe it may turn out to be one of the best yearling groups in some time.

Among the former high school stars is halfback Ray Gustafson of Newberry.

Escanaba Needs Ordinance For Control Of Smoke Nuisance

THE program of lake carriers to abate the smoke nuisance and to conform to smoke abatement ordinances in lake port cities deserves generous public commendation. Many lake carriers have been extreme violators of smoke ordinances but whether cities have such ordinances or not, air pollution is a serious problem.

Unfortunately Escanaba is one city which prides itself upon being progressive but which lacks an effective ordinance to protect its citizenry from air pollution. Perhaps a major reason for this is the fact that for a long time the city itself was a major offender. Improvements have been made at the city steam plant, however, so that now smoke belching from the steam plant stack is not the problem it once was. In fact, the steam plant rarely, if ever, would violate any reasonable smoke abatement ordinance.

The city is now in a position to insist that others do what the city has done and clean up air pollution. The railroads, for instance, are particularly grievous offenders. Since the railroad yards are only a couple blocks from the business district and are located practically in the heart of the city the smoke belching from railroad engines contaminates a large section of the city.

The smoke abatement committee of the Coal Producers association made a survey in Escanaba some time ago, recommended a number of improvements and proposed the enactment of an ordinance to control air pollution.

Army Accepts Offer Of Free Beer

ARMY SECRETARY FRANK PACE, Jr., has announced that the U. S. Army has decided to accept the offer of the Blatz and Schlitz breweries in Milwaukee for 1,200,000 cans or bottles of free beer for U. S. troops in Korea. The breweries will pay the shipping costs to a west coast port and the army will provide shipping space from that point.

It would seem that the decision would be a perfunctory one, but such was not the case. The army was bombarded with protests from professional drunks, who argued that the breweries were not really being patriotic or magnanimous but were merely seeking to assure themselves of customers in the future.

In deciding to accept the offer of free beer, the army followed a sensible line of reasoning. The beer to be shipped to Korea will contain no more than 3.2% of alcohol which is regarded as non-intoxicating. The availability of beer is a good morale builder for troops and it is even better for the soldier morale when the beer is free.

There certainly would have been a lot of disappointed soldiers if the army had decided to reject the offer of free beer for American troops.

CONSERVING A RESOURCE (Christian Science Monitor)

More than 11 million Americans have been residents of this globe for 65 years or more. Fifty years ago only a few more than 3 million could claim such tenure.

The growing resource of their abilities and skills is an asset the nation can ill afford to throw away. President Truman usefully emphasized this point in his message to the National Conference on Aging, just held in Washington.

That such a conference should be held, concerning itself with ways of making existence more full, free, and meaningful for those of riper years, is in itself a wholesome expression of public interest.

The numerous pension and retirement systems which have come into bloom during the last two decades were intended to reward years of productiveness, not primarily to close that usefulness. Attention now is needed to assure that in conferring the reward we do not remove further incentive or even opportunity.

Most retirement plans do have some flexibility about them, and the tendency is toward more voluntarism in the matter of leaving the job. Certainly more attention should be given to encouraging continued activity, even though a readjustment to other kinds of work may be desirable.

Dr. Alvin Johnson, director emeritus of the New School for Social Research in New York, estimates that more than 8 per cent of America's effective manpower would be lost if mandatory retirement systems became the rule.

This is a resource worth conserving, and it can be conserved with greater happiness on all sides by the application of careful thought and sympathetic endeavor.

Check Stubs

By Gordon Martin

Every month the postman stops to leave a statement from the bank, and you wonder if perhaps you are the victim of a prank. For you thought you had some money left with which to pay your bills, but the balance in your bank account reflects some checkbook ills. So you call the little woman in from tending plants and shrubs, and you ask her to explain the way she keeps her checkbook stubs.

Why, she says, it's very simple and that she can show you quick. For her garden blooms with flowers that she really ought to pick. But she soon concedes she's not much help in getting at the facts, and you marvel at the way in which she adds and then subtracts. Then you find a stub on which she never made a note at all, and for what it was she wrote the check, she simply can't recall.

So she leaves you for her garden and you're sure inclined to doubt that her checkbook is a record you can ever straighten out. Soon you've got a sheaf of figures in your bank account complex. Thus at last you find the statement from the bank completely right, and you know that once again, next month, her checkbook stubs you'll fight.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Under the new anti-Communist law, any newspaperman can be put in jail for publishing secret documents. Nevertheless, I am going to publish a confidential state department instruction which happens to be one of the most important issued in five years.

The secret memo is an instruction to American delegates at the current U. N. general assembly, and it states:

"The aim of this critical session is to lift GA (abbreviation for general assembly) out of the debating society class and make it an effective action agency when collective defense through SC (abbreviation for Security Council) is frustrated. . . To organize GA effectively to deter further aggression."

In those 38 words is summed up the most important reversal of American policy in years. In those 38 words is also spelled out the hopes for future peace in the world.

It is a reversal because at San Francisco where the United Nations was founded in 1945, American delegates insisted that the new organization be dominated by the big powers on the Security Council. At that time we were just as strong for the veto as the Russians. So were the British and French. The veto was our joint and mutual baby.

BIG VS. LITTLE NATIONS
At that time, the smaller nations, led by dynamic, farsighted Foreign Minister Evatt of Australia, tried to curtail the veto; tried to increase the power of the general assembly.

New Zealand, Greece, Belgium, the Scandinavian countries all fought for this principle.

They knew what the veto meant. They realized that when the big powers sat down in the Security Council, they would be just as deadlocked as on the council of the old League of Nations.

However, the United States, at that time, sided with Russia, and the Security Council with its veto was made all-powerful compared with the Democratic general assembly where majority ruled.

This is what the state department is trying to reverse in New York right now. For the American people saw what the U. N. could do when Russia was absent from the Security Council; also how stymied the Security Council was when Russia returned.

But believe it or not, the countries now dragging their feet are our best friends, the French and British. With far less to lose than we, they are proposing "constructive criticism" which actually has the effect of helping to pull the Russian chestnuts out of the fire.

SLOT-MACHINE MALONE
Nevada Senator George Malone's filibuster in favor of slot machines has been put to music by Washington Post reporter Al Friendly, poet-laureate of the press gallery.

To the tune "Home On The Range," Friendly mischievously substituted these words describing good old Molly Malone's speech-making:

"Oh give me a Malone
Where pompousies roam.
And ideas are fuzzy and gray.
Where never is heard
An intelligent word
And the platitudes roam all the day."

ANTI-COMMUNIST BILL
Many Republicans didn't know this when they voted for the new Communist control law, but under it the justice department has the complete and unchallengeable power to investigate such GOP senators as Taft of Ohio, Jenner of Indiana, Wherry of Nebraska and Watkins of Utah on the ground that their voting records coincide with left-wing Congressman Marcantonio of New York.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

The word corroborate is often heard with the first two "r's" entirely missing, as "koe-OB-uh-rate." In careful speech the sound of "r" should be heard, thus: kuh-ROB-uh-rate.

A connoisseur is one who is a critical judge of one of the fine arts, or in matters of taste. The mispronunciation "KON-uh-SOO'er" reminds one unpleasantly of sewers and sewage. The correct English pronunciation of the French loan word is KON-uh-SER, the third syllable to rhyme with "her, per."

We should carefully distinguish between the word ingenious and ingenious. Ingenious means, "artless; free from reserve; innocent." Pronounce it: in-JEN-yoo-uss.

Ingenious means, "clever; skillful; having inventive faculty." Pronounce it: in-JEEN-yuss.

One well-known dictionary in my library lists "VIZZ-er" as the only pronunciation for the word visor. "VIZZ-er" was correct in Noah Webster's day (the 1800's), but it is entirely obsolete in today's American speech. The correct pronunciation is: VY-zer, to rhyme with miser.

Another equally well known dictionary lists "CHEE-k'l" as the only pronunciation for the word chicle, the chief ingredient of chewing gum. But we Americans do not say "CHEE-k'l." We rhyme chicle with nickel, as CHICK-ul. (The Spanish pronunciation is: CHEE-klay.)

Charleston! Colby, you're wrong! Your column recently stated that the poinsettia was named after Joel R. Poinsett, of North Carolina. I want you to know, suh, that Poinsett was born here in the city of Charleston, SOUTH Carolina.—A. B.

A. Right. Now I know what the governor of South Carolina said to the governor of North Carolina. "That Colby!"

Typewriter of the week from a Nebraska daily: "The bride was started in 1903, completed in 1904, and washed away in 1905."

Misery loves company if you don't count the folk who drop in right at dinner time.

The season is here when men fish and lie about—their fish.

He Gets Into Every Act

Moscow Orders Recruiting Of Stockholm Peace Appeal Signers

By LEON DENNEN

NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS—(NEA)—The Russian Politburo has ordered West European Cominform chiefs to recruit into Communist ranks millions of the people who signed the Moscow-sponsored "Stockholm peace appeal."

This is revealed in a secret document which has just come into the possession of this correspondent. The document is part of a speech delivered by Mikhail Suslov, a private secretary to Joseph Stalin, at a secret Cominform meeting in Berlin July 21. Suslov is also a secretary of the Central Committee of the Russian Communist Party.

Suslov assailed western Red leaders for having made "practically no effort to rally those who signed the petitions for outlawing the atomic bomb into any sort of organization."

While conceding that most who signed the "peace appeal" could no longer be located or organized, Suslov insisted 20 to 25 per cent of the signers could be persuaded to join Communist ranks.

This is the first disclosure that the "peace appeal" is viewed in the Kremlin as a prelude to a European—and perhaps world-wide—organizing drive to swell Communist strength for the fight against the West.

Suslov told the Berlin Cominform meeting that the "widespread campaign against the atomic bomb" had succeeded in attracting young workers who represented a valuable revolutionary element.

MIKHAIL SUSLOV: The peace appeal helped infiltration.

ment." These workers, he added, are joining the Cominform's military sections. "They are our assurance of successful revolutionary and insurrectionary action."

Stalin's secretary further pointed out that the "peace appeal" had enabled many Reds to infiltrate workers' factory councils in western European countries. The councils are regarded by Moscow as the "economic counterpart of the local soviet in the general frame of revolutionary strategy."

The Stockholm appeal for outlawing the A-bomb was first issued last spring by the Red-controlled World Congress of the Partisans of Peace. Exploiting general fears of an A-bomb war, the Cominform set out to get 400,000,000 signatures all over the world, including 5,000,000 in the U. S.

Sponsors now claim they're halfway to their goal and that millions of additional signers are being lined up daily.

Secretary of State Acheson and other western officials have denounced the "peace appeal" as a phony propaganda campaign aimed at marshalling world sentiment against America's most powerful weapon—the A-bomb—which Russia herself does not have in great quantity.

Suslov's Berlin speech disclosed also that the Cominform hereafter will pay greater attention to outlying regions in countries like France and Italy, instead of focusing on big cities.

It will work to elect Reds to municipal governments and councils in these areas. In event of war, the councils, trained and taught by Communists, would form a basis for organizing local soviet—Russian style.

At the crucial Berlin session, Suslov was accompanied by P. N. Porelov of the Soviet Union.

Other world Red leaders there were Palmiro Togliatti of Italy, Jacques Duclos of France, Wang Chin-hsiang of the Chinese Communist party, Harry Pollitt of Great Britain, and a host of Cominform figures from Iron Curtain countries.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

COMING IN—The casualty lists of the war in Korea may have reached their peak. Combat has changed about and U. S. and U. N. troops are now on the offensive, rather than the discouraging defensive. If the end of hostilities is not in sight, it is at least nearer.

Casualty lists, unless they contain the names of young men known to you in your community, are rather meaningless reading. Just a list of names—killed, missing, wounded.

But in a newspaper office, day by day and week by week, the casualties come to be represented by the next of kin, usually the mother, who comes to the newspaper to report that she has received a telegram from the War Department: "We deeply regret to inform you—"

MEAGER SOLACE—In World War II and in the war in Korea that is not officially a war, these mothers bear up courageously under the news from the War Department.

"I have some news—about my son in service," they say, and hand you the telegram.

When you reluctantly look up from the telegram you will find the mother's eyes filled with tears. He was 19 or 20 or 21, he graduated from high school, he was a corporal, a sergeant, a private first class, they reply to questions.

"He was only wounded," said one mother. "I am glad of that—I couldn't stand it if he were missing. Now I know he is getting good care."

Sometimes they have a picture with them—a photograph of a smooth-checked young man, proudly posing in his uniform.

And then the mothers go out, clutching the telegram—the latest and sometimes the last communication that links them to their boy.

THE BRIGHTER SIDE—But the reports from families concerning news of their sons in service is not always tragic. Sometimes it is hopeful.

There was the letter from Cpl. Donald Magnuson, as an example. His letter was written Sept. 8 in Korea to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Magnuson of State Road, Escanaba. Although only 22, Donald knows what war is. He served overseas with the U. S. Navy in World War II, and is now with the Army Air Force in Korea.

"We haven't much over here— that's why I have to use this paper," he wrote, referring to the cheap gray paper on which his hurried letter was written.

"We went to Taegu four days ago for reinforcements. When we started back yesterday afternoon it got too hot up there for us. The Reds are throwing everything they have got. I guess I'm just lucky. We got ambushed on the way up. We had nine trucks and two jeeps and about 23 men. Four trucks and 13 of us got away. That's what I mean when I say I'm lucky."

He concludes with the observation that the weather is "awful" and the wish that he was "back in the States."

PERFECTLY HAPPY—Sometimes the news of the boys in service, relayed to the newspaper by the parents, ranges from the tragic, to the hopeful, to the amusing.

The amusing is attested by an incident that occurred during World War II when large numbers of American boys were stationed in the South Pacific.

The mother of one young man in service brought to the newspaper office a picture of her son. She wanted it in the paper, she said. The editor took a look at the snapshot, choked, and then looked again.

Pictured was the soldier standing between two bare-torsoed native girls, an arm encircling each of the black but pleasantly smiling South Sea Island beauties.

A very interesting picture said the editor tactfully, but the snapshot wasn't clear enough to make a good newspaper engraving.

LOOKING AHEAD—From the viewpoint of those interested in a permanent peace, it now appears likely that under United Nations leadership there will be maintained a world police force. This could mean continuing but small-scale battles here and there around the world in the enforcement of the laws of peace.

When those days come there will continue to be casualty lists, but there will also be the realization that in the years ahead there may come a time when peace—real and permanent—will bring an end to war.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—Duck season may be just around the corner but the fishermen still find plenty of sport on the water. Proof that the walleyes are still hitting is a six-pound walleye caught by proud Billy Nelson, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nelson, Old State Road. He caught the big fish last Sunday at Masonville.

Escanaba—Mrs. Robert L. Treiber bride in a ceremony at Milwaukee recently, is the former Sylvia Klug, daughter of Emil Klug of Milwaukee. Mr. Treiber, a son of Mrs. L. P. Theiber of this city, and his bride, are making their home in Bon-duel, Wis.

20 YEARS AGO

Berlin—Such concepts as a "super race," a "higher civilization" or "kultur" and the necessity for Germany to become "either a world power or nothing" are part of the philosophy of Adolf Hitler, German Fascist leader, as explained in his book "My Fight."

Escanaba—Mrs. Clarence Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Buntjer have left by motor for Freeport, Ill., where they will make their future home.

Escanaba—Mrs. A. T. Hammond of Gary, Ind., formerly a resident of Wells and known to many wells and Escanaba people, is a guest at the Nels Kempe and Grant Robbins homes in Wells.

Much Ado Over Toledo Station

New Depot Cost Five Millions

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK — Through some mysterious circumstance, involving a man named Joe Cops, I found myself in Toledo the other day, to midwife some celebrations involving a new railroad station the New York Central had erected, involving a cost of five million dollars.

A southern lady, the wife of one of the celebrants, was heard to say: "I never saw so much car-rin'-on over a new dee-poe in all my born days." The lady was right.

One whole week of huzzahs was devoted to the station. Fleet Admiral Nimitz was on hand to lend the global military touch. At one count there were 18 foreign newspapermen and 19 press agents, until one extra news-bournd, sniffling the seven-fifty lunch, strayed from a murder and stumbled in to even the tally at 19 all. The Hollywood hams came later.

No Bomb Shelter

For one whole week they shook the state of Ohio upside down to herald the birth of a building in which trains and passengers dwell, and I thought it was kind of fine. Anything is fine, in his day and age, that does not pack-age itself with the threat of sudden extinction.

Here is a nasty old capitalistic outfit like the Central, which all of a sudden bets a wad of its stockholders' money that nobody is going to blow up the world, and in the meantime the customers have a cleaner toilet and a more comfortable place to set. There isn't even a bomb shelter under the station.

A flock of us were up in the dispatchers' new offices, and the boys were doing great with radio telephones, routing trains all around. If you slid back a drawer a mile, you saw that every one still had a Morse code bug, or sending instrument, tucked away under the stationery. The phone is fine, but these lads still based their deepest faith on dah-dit-dah, tapped out with one finger.

We talked for a considerable spell with the dispatchers, and I asked one what would happen if the Russians suddenly parachuted a mess of saboteurs on the rail centers of our world, and decided to foul up communications. "Not much," said one, named Steve. "All the boys who are talking to me on the other end know my voice. They wouldn't pay any mind to a stranger. Wouldn't get away with it for a minute."

The method of following the progress of trains hasn't changed, basically, since about 1900, which sort of comforts me in an age of jet plane and guided missile. People at the watch-stations where the trains pass call in the necessary dope to the Central board, and the man writes it down in ink on a sheet. If the freight's got hogs that have to be walked every so often, the man knows it. He is even conversant with the quality of tomatoes that some rail-borne tugboat is chuffing over a steep hill.

Rugged Individualism

I'm not much on trains, as a hobby, but you can't help but admire the rugged, even stuffy, individualism of the men who run them. They all look like reserve major-generals, and a young president of a line is in his fifties. They're all sore as hell at the competition of airline and steam-boat, all of which seem to get fat government subsidies. Maybe they are jealous.

Trains do run slow, compared to the iron birds, and they bump on the tracks—and the ticket system seems unduly ponderous, but today they are comforting. They argue a permanence, an old-fashioned way of doing business, a disregard of hysteria, that seems pretty wonderful.

A flock of ancients from an old people's home were in the new Central Union terminal for to see and to admire, and they just couldn't get over the fancy fixin's and the glass and the do-jiggers. They oohed and ahhed and allowed as how they never figured to live to see the like.

That was pretty comforting, too. Old fashioned progress has finally come to rail centers in Ohio, and it is nice to reflect that some are still alive who never reckoned to see it bloom. These old codgers never once asked about the presence of a radio-activity-decontamination room.

Nahma

Tommie's Birthday Party
NAHMA — Tommie Todish, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Todish, was honored Thursday evening at a party at the Civic Center arranged in celebration of his birthday anniversary. Tommie who is suffering from a bone disease and is in a partial cast is unable to attend school.

Tacoma Police Fire At Fleeing Soldier, Kill Girl, 18, In Auto

TACOMA, Wash. — (AP) — Police, shooting at a fleeing soldier, fatally wounded an 18-year-old girl on a downtown street last Wednesday night.

Police said Margot Granell of Los Angeles was accidentally shot when a soldier tried to get away from two officers. They fired at him when he leaped into an automobile in which Miss Granell and her sister were riding. One of the bullets pierced the girl's neck.

Fake Grenade Bandit Gets 3-Year Sentence

HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP) — Paul V. Patton was sentenced to three years in prison for trying to rob the National Bank of Commerce with a dummy hand grenade. He was arrested March 27 after crashing into a glass door in the main lobby of the bank as he attempted to escape a teller, an infantry veteran, who recognized the grenade as a fake.

Harlan Lavigne, Bridge Club Outing

Members of the Nahma Bridge club enjoyed their annual outing at Escanaba Tuesday. Dinner at the House of Ludington was followed by a movie show. Those attending were Mrs. Martin Kousbaugh, Mrs. Nels Plude, Mrs. Homer Beauchamp, Mrs. Harry DeRosier, Mrs. Fred Olmsted, Mrs. Ed Tobin, Mrs. William Rauls and Mrs. Nick Gemunden.

An announcement by Henry J. Kaiser

Today, at your Kaiser-Frazer dealer, you will see what we believe to be the most important car that America has produced since the automobile became a necessity of daily living. It fills the needs, the wants, the purchasing power of all America as no other car has done in the last ten years. It is rugged. It has outstanding maneuverability, handles and parks easily, and is powered with our new Super-8 Engines which deliver up to 30 to 35 miles to the gallon. The Henry J is the lowest-priced car in the low-price field. It has the full, generous proportions to which Americans are accustomed. We have given it the best combination of performance, comfort, styling, and economy of operation. It is the car that you and every American family can afford to buy, to operate, to maintain...and be proud to own.

The Henry J...the lowest-priced car in the low-price field.

Delivered at Willow Run, with federal taxes paid. Only white sidewall tires. De Luxe bumper guards and local tax (if any) additional.

The most important new car in America!

Here today...The

Henry J

Available in two models: Henry J (as illustrated above), Henry J De Luxe (six-cylinder at additional cost).

Important because...It's Smart! Smart to look at... smart to own! Notice the extra-wide doors...front seat 58 inches wide...head room and leg room galore! And—look! The back of the rear seat folds forward, giving you 51 cubic feet of storage space, almost double that of the largest sedan trunk compartment!

Important because...It's Tough! Husky, Double-Channel Frame, reinforced like a steel bridge! The rear axle Hypoid geared, as in most expensive cars. Extra-wide windshield and windows give you the largest vision area in any low-priced car...short turning radius permits the easiest parking.

Important because...It's Thrifty! You get 30 to 35 miles per gallon from the quiet, responsive Super-8 Engines. (Henry J—4 cylinders, Henry J De Luxe—6 cylinders.) Lower first cost...lower maintenance...lower repair bills...lower insurance...lower operating cost. Your savings, in just two years, can more than total the down payment on the Henry J.

Built to Better the Best on the Road!

Expect Defense Program Speed-Up After Election

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK—(AP)—Many businessmen are getting set to enter the twilight zone of defense mobilization. It will be a strange period, with war-type controls but without the sound of guns.

The nation's economic activity already is at a postwar high, as industry and trade work as fast as they can to make and lay up stores of civilian goods.

But most businessmen seem more aware than a large part of the public that, unless the chart of the re-armament program is changed, it will set in, probably soon after the election, with blasts of restrictions and controls.

Some Business Forecasts

Over-all production will continue at a high prosperity peak. Almost everyone will be working, at good pay, even if paying large taxes. But businessmen are being bombarded this week with official warnings of the curbs and annoyances that will go with it. All industry—even if not directly engaged in defense production—will have some government agency always peering over its shoulder.

Here is what the crystal gazers see ahead for business:
1. Labor: Wages are on the way up in many industries. Some expect unions to ask for still higher pay by the end of the year.

Already some companies are scrambling for workers—in sharp contrast to the start of World War II, when there was a large pool of jobless men. Shortages of skilled auto labor sparked the recent general wage boosts in Detroit. West coast aircraft makers look to the east for skilled mechanics. New England textile metalworking, machine tool and jewelry plants are reported shopping for trained men.

The labor department estimates that a full-scale mobilization would mean a drain of 6.6 million workers from production of civilian goods. (That is around 10 per cent of the present total labor force.) Meanwhile, partial mobilization will mean drafting of more young men, calling up of more trained reserve officers.

2. Profits: Production rates will be high—especially for those in defense work—but earnings will be milked by taxes. Corporate income tax rates go up next week, may rise again next year.

Excess Profits Tax
An excess profits tax is promised by the present Congress. The next one, even if its complexion changes with the election, is expected to go along with that. This, in turn, could contract dividends, now flowing in record volume.

3. Money: Bankers, at their annual meeting here this week, say they look for a federal reserve drive to make money scarcer, interest rates higher, the volume of business loans smaller, bank reserves (idle money) larger, and consumer credit smaller. As installment buying curbs tighten, some merchants' sales totals will drop.

But money is going to be easier for the defense producer to get. Government guarantees of bank loans to boost defense output were available Wednesday.

4. Controls: Price and wage controls are widely expected. Businessmen are already on notice to hold down inventories. Specific ceilings on inventories of critical war materials are looked for. Priorities are in the making for commodities used in defense production.

Government stockpiling of strategic materials is growing, at the expense of industries scrambling for scarce materials.

5. Construction: Home building, one of the chief props of this year's prosperity, may drop sharply next year. To some extent, expansion of industrial plants will take its place. Steps are already underway to increase the output of steel, aluminum, synthetic rubber, electric power, aircraft, and other things needed for defense.

If there is no shooting, all of the shortages, controls, interference with business will seem doubly irksome to those who are pinched. But Washington says it's the only way to attain the defense goals.

Rain Today Could Decide National Pennant Race

(By The Associated Press)

"Rain, rain go away, come again some other day."

That's what the second place teams in the major league pennant races are chanting today.

Rain threatens to wash out what little chance the Brooklyn Dodgers and Detroit Tigers have to catch the Philadelphia Phillies and New York Yankees, respectively.

The Phillies in the National and the Yanks in the American assured themselves yesterday of finishing in no worse than a tie for the pennants in their respective leagues.

To tie the Phillies, Brooklyn must beat Boston twice today and the Phillies on Saturday and Sunday. The Phils are idle today and can clinch if the Dodgers split.

To tie the Yanks, Detroit must win all three of their remaining games against Cleveland while the Yanks, idle today, drop single games to the Boston Red Sox Saturday and Sunday.

However, Brooklyn is in danger of having its thin chance wiped out. The Dodgers are scheduled to play their third doubleheader in as many days against the Braves at Ebbets field and the weather forecast is showery.

Brooklyn Misses Chance

If the games are rained out, the Dodgers will be washed out of the pennant picture since Boston is scheduled to play the New York Giants over the weekend while the Dodgers entertain Philadelphia.

Rain also threatens today's game between Cleveland and the Tigers in Detroit, but there's ample opportunity to make it up as part of a doubleheader Saturday or Sunday.

Brooklyn missed the boat yesterday by dividing a doubleheader with the Braves while the staggering Phils dropped their second twin bill in as many days to the New York Giants. Philadelphia's once imposing lead now stands at three games.

The Dodgers won the opener, 6-5, but lost the nightcap, 8-4. The Phils were beaten by identical scores of 3-1.

Brooklyn pulled the opener out with a four run rally in the seventh inning against Mickey Vernon. American league cast-off, Sid Gordon started the Dodgers on the road to ruin in the nightcap. He tripled with one out in the seventh inning and scored when Jackie Robinson fumbled Tommy Holmes' grounder to shove the Braves ahead, 4-3. Del Crandall followed with a home run and the game was in the bag.

Thomson Homers Twice

Sal Maglie and Sheldon Jones turned back the Phils. Maglie stopped the Phils on five hits to gain his 18th victory. Two home runs by Bob Thomson put Maglie in the winner's circle.

Jones scattered seven hits in out-dueling Robin Roberts. The Giants broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning, scoring twice when Whitey Lockman blooped a single to left with the bases loaded. The Yanks were forced to go 10 innings before defeating the tail-end Philadelphia Athletics, 8-6. Phil Rizzuto doubled home Cliff Mapes with the tie-breaking run and then scored the clincher on Yogi Berra's single.

Tommy Henrich delivered a run-scoring pinch-hit single in the eighth to put the Yanks in front, 6-5, only to have Joe Tipton send the game into overtime with a homer in the ninth.

Detroit stayed alive by edging the St. Louis Browns, 4-3 in 12 innings.

In the two other games the St. Louis Cardinals blanked Cincinnati, 7-0, in a night contest and the Boston Red Sox edged Washington, 4-3. Cleveland and Chicago, in the American, and Pittsburgh and Chicago, in the National, were not scheduled.

Michigan, starting Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's third season, hopes to continue its lopsided dominance of the intra-state classic with a team rated faster than his 1949 club that shared the Big Ten crown with Ohio State.

Michigan hopes for reversing the nip-and-tuck trend of the past two years ride with a classy backfield. Key man is the Big Ten's total offense champion, Chuck Ortmann, tailback. Leo Koceski, hard-running veteran, mans the other half with powerful Don Dufek at fullback. Guiding the Wolverine operation from quarterback is Bill Putich, the only short-experience man of the crew.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

How'd you like to be in the stands at Ann Arbor tomorrow to see that State game? . . . we would . . . that will be a ball game . . . on paper, State shouldn't win it . . . Michigan has a complete backfield and many linemen back from last year . . . and you can't cross off Chuck Ortmann, Leo Koceski and Don Dufek without thinking twice . . . in addition, State has lost Lynn Chandnois and the center of its line, Don Mason, Ed Bagdon and Bob McCarry . . . but we have a hunch this State outfit is going to be tough to beat . . . for one thing, there is no love lost between Biggie Munn and Fritz Crisler . . . Crisler, of course, isn't coaching Michigan this year but he's still the big boy . . . Munn won't rest until he beats Michigan . . . State isn't saying anything about it but the University has been making life miserable for the East Lansing school ever since it was accepted in the Big Ten . . . Michigan "spies" are constantly running to Big Ten Commissioner Tug Wilson with reports of alleged State violations of conference rules . . . and MSC doesn't like it a bit . . . this ought to be an interesting ball game.

And there's little doubt that the Escanaba-Menominee game will be an interesting affair . . . Escanaba-Menominee games always are, regardless of pre-game dope and post-game outcome . . . this is one we'd like to see Escanaba take . . . Coach Jim Rouman is one of the finest guys in the business . . . and he has a fine bunch of boys playing for him . . . but, unless Jim comes up with a breakthrough runner (and it might be Mert McRae) and a passer, we greatly fear the Eskymos are in for their second defeat of the season . . . if the Eskymos want to know how Ken Radick, the Menominee coach, feels about them, they might remember the crack Radick made on the sidelines last week when Norway was giving the Eskymos trouble: "Why does Rouman leave his reserves in there?" . . . Escanaba's first team was playing at the time . . . the cards are stacked against you, boys . . . here's your chance to pull an upset!

We hope to see that Menominee game . . . and we would like to be at Manistique tonight to see what John Viergever's boys can do about stopping this great Newberry team everyone is talking about . . . those who have seen Newberry play say the Indians "have it" . . . in fact, Newberry hasn't lost a football game since Morley Fraser became coach . . . one Escanaba with more than casual interest in this Newberry team is Lyle Utt, who performed at end for the Eskymos many years ago . . . Lyle has two cousins, Joe and Charlie Villeneuve, on the Newberry team . . . Lyle has been kidding Joe and Charlie about how things were when he was playing . . . now they're determined to show Lyle how football is "really played" . . . and Lowell Sundstrom, a great Newberry fan, will be on hand tonight, too.

Alma Gridders Fall To Unbeaten College

ERIE, Pa. —(P)—Gannon college, never beaten in football, made Alma of Michigan its tenth straight victim last night with a 20-2 shellacking.

The Pennsylvania school played eight games without defeat in 1949, its first football season, and now has two victories in as many starts this year.

Gannon was sparked by quarterback Joe Cerami who connected on six of 13 passing attempts. Alma scored an automatic safety in the third period after Gannon scrimmaged from its own 14 and a bad pass from center went into the end zone.

Graveraets Play Gladstone Saturday

GLADSTONE — It's Gladstone against Marquette Saturday at Marble Athletic Field and the Braves encouraged by their comeback victory against Manistique last weekend are determined to stay in the win column.

Opening kickoff will be at 2:00 o'clock.

Apparently the two elevens are fairly well matched. Marquette has a victory over Munising, a team which capitalized on breaks to take a 13-0 win from Gladstone. The Graveraets also won from Ishpeming, but Gladstone came from behind to upset Manistique, a team which also defeated the Hematites.

Marquette with Nystrom and Redman, two excellent backfield performers, appear to have the edge offensively. The Gladstone backfield is not large and lacks speed.

However, the Braves appeared to have "found" themselves last weekend and played an excellent defensive game against Manistique. Against the same type of play the Graveraets will find yardage hard to gain.

Halfback Jim LaLonde is back with the team after being out a week with an ankle injury and probably will see considerable action on offense Saturday.

Fullback, Larry LeVelle, quarterback Jim Kee and halfback Dallas Knecht, are others who will see action when Gladstone has the ball Saturday.

In the line, Coach Don Pfotenbauer indicates he will use Martin Becker jr., and Bill Young at ends.

Bob Cole and Joe Sutter or Roy Eldridge at tackles, Capt. Bill Sundling and Jack Sutter at guards and either Dick Sidbeck or Don Timler at center.

It will be the last home game until the Escanaba tilt on Oct. 28, the season windup.

Long Reign As Champ For Charles Seen

NEW YORK.—(P)—Boxing men today forecast a long reign for Ezzard Charles, who finally showed some "tiger" in the most important ring fight of his career.

Ezzard's drubbing of Joe Louis Wednesday night was the best showing he has made here in many tries. He looked and acted like a real champion.

Next stop for the 29-year-old Cincinnati Negro will be his home town in mid-November against Freddie Beshore. Ez halted Harrisburg Freddie in 14 rounds in Buffalo last August.

After Beshore, what? Who's going to beat him?

Maybe Lee Savold, the British-recognized titlist from Paterson, N. J. And that's a big maybe. Savold is 34 and has been around a long time.

Meanwhile, Ezzard plans to take a month's vacation. By then his bruised hands and injured left eye will have healed.

No matter whom he fights next, the big end of the purse will go to Charles. He took only 20 per cent in the Louis scrap while Joe got 35.

"From now on it's the champion's cut for us," said Co-Manager Jake Mintz. "We'll take on anybody, any place, but they'll have to remember that Ez is the champ of them all now."

New York state finally went along with the 47-state NBA in recognizing Charles.

SPLIT DECISION

LANSING —(P)—Frankie Abrams, Detroit, won a split decision from Tommy Darrough, Flint, in the eight-round main event of a boxing show here last night. Gene Linscott, Pontiac, won a technical knockout verdict over Gene Reynolds, Toledo, in the first round of the semi-final bout when the latter was unable to continue because of a shoulder injury.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Brooklyn (Fort Hamilton)—Al Marotti, 141, Youngstown, 6, outpointed Claude Hammond, 145, Clifside, N. J., 8.

Spartans And Wolves Playing For Prestige

ANN ARBOR.—(P)—Prestige is the plum as Michigan's Big Ten co-champions launch their 1950 campaign tomorrow against Michigan State.

Though Michigan State, which has made it not for Michigan two years running now, is a member of the Western conference, the Spartans' games won't count in the league standing until 1953.

Thus, this 43rd meeting between the state's hottest rivals becomes a heated battle for national grid respect, with every seat in Michigan's 97,239-seat stadium accounted for. The kickoff is 2 p. m. (EST).

Michigan, rated third team in the nation behind Notre Dame and Army in the Associated Press pre-season poll, must win or slide. For MSC, a victory would vault the Spartans high in the national standings.

MSC Coach Clarence (Biggie) Munn is counting on a balanced, team and a giant, pass-catching end to turn the trick for the first time in 13 years. Six-foot, five-inch flanker Bob Carey, junior end from Chicago, Charley Olex, enbarrassed from Oregon State by scoring 20 points personally last week as the Spartans won 38-13 in an early opener.

Michigan, starting Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's third season, hopes to continue its lopsided dominance of the intra-state classic with a team rated faster than his 1949 club that shared the Big Ten crown with Ohio State.

Michigan hopes for reversing the nip-and-tuck trend of the past two years ride with a classy backfield. Key man is the Big Ten's total offense champion, Chuck Ortmann, tailback. Leo Koceski, hard-running veteran, mans the other half with powerful Don Dufek at fullback. Guiding the Wolverine operation from quarterback is Bill Putich, the only short-experience man of the crew.

Detroit has defeated Green Bay and Pittsburgh.

The Yanks have beaten the San Francisco 49ers and bowed to the Los Angeles Rams.

Airlines Case Delayed Again

Wisconsin Central's Renewal Coming Up

WASHINGTON—(P)—The civil aeronautics board announced today it will delay its decision in the Michigan-Wisconsin airlines service case until it is ready to decide another case involving renewal of Wisconsin Central Airlines' certificate.

Josh Lee, board member, dissented from the majority. He said the Michigan-Wisconsin matter should be decided immediately because the public needs the proposed direct air link between the Upper Peninsula and Lower Michigan.

The majority held that a delay in the decision will not deprive those cities now receiving air service of this service and will help the National Airlines' service needs in the Michigan-Wisconsin area.

Nationwide Airlines, now operating as an intrastate carrier between Detroit and Upper Peninsula points, and Turner Airlines, a certificated feeder or local service operator on routes centered at Indianapolis, Ind., are applicants for new or extended routes in the Michigan-Wisconsin service case. That proceeding has gone through all the usual steps short of a final decision.

The board's hearing examiner in that case, R. Vernon Radcliffe, recommended that the board deny all of the applications and find that National Airlines' operations in Michigan constituted interstate air transportation.

Wisconsin Central, which already serves all of the proposed points in the Upper Peninsula except Sault Ste. Marie, has asked that that city be added to its route from Chicago to Marquette, Mich.

Wisconsin Central suggested that service to Lower Peninsula points could be provided through Capital Airlines from Chicago.

The board has not yet had a public hearing in its proceeding determining whether Wisconsin Central's route certificate, due to expire next week, should be extended and its routes rearranged to eliminate points being served at a loss and give better balance to the system as a whole.

Strike Ends At Three Detroit Breweries

DETROIT—(P)—A strike of 230 employees of three Detroit breweries has ended.

The workers began going back to the Altes, Goebel and Pfeiffer plants yesterday after the CIO Brewery Workers International Union seized control of Local 3 and placed a trustee in charge.

The output of beer had not been affected.

Spokesmen for the local said the walkout was called in an effort to force a reopening of a new five-year contract to discuss wages. The strike was not sanctioned by the international.

Republicans Outvoted Democrats By 220,000 State Canvass Shows

LANSING—(P)—The official canvass of the September 12 primary election showed today that the Republicans outvoted the Democrats by 220,000 votes in the second biggest primary in Michigan history.

The total vote cast, according to the canvass, was 896,636 votes, compared to the 1940 total of 907,000—the record. This year's primary, however, was approximately double the vote in all the intervening years.

The Republican candidates for governor polled a total of 558,321 votes, to 338,302 for governor Williams, who was unopposed.

Carried Five Counties
Williams' vote was 53,000 more than all the Democrats combined polled in the 1948 primary, when the governor was first nominated to office, and more than triple his vote at that time.

It was virtually triple any Democratic vote in the past 10 years, with the exception of the 1940 race when former governor Murray D. Van Wagoner made his first campaign for the governorship.

Allied Army May Pick Eisenhower For Top Command

commander. Theoretically this commander might come from any one of the Atlantic powers; actually, the Europeans have already told the U. S. they want an American officer to have the job.

Admired As Hero
In addition, the state and defense departments are aware that many European leaders have tremendous admiration for Eisenhower because of his achievements as allied supreme commander in Europe in World War II.

His task then, of course, was to lead an international force somewhat similar to that proposed now. His popular reputation as a hero in Europe is considered here to be beyond question and unmatched by that of any other American.

Aide from Eisenhower, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the present chairman of the joint chief of staff, has been most prominently mentioned for the supreme command assignment.

Officials told a reporter today that so far the United States has not made any decision on a supreme commander. There is, in fact, some belief that the first step may be to organize the general staff and name a chief of staff. He would be succeeded by a commander some months later when the military forces actually had been committed to the new army.

In other words, some officials here favor withholding selection of a commander until he has something to command.

The next steps toward creating the new force will be taken by defense ministers of the Atlantic powers when they meet in Washington next month. Their job will be to work out details and timing of the organization.

Secretary of Defense Marshall will represent the U. S. in this session. Next to the President, he probably will have the decisive voice in selection of the American who will lead the allied troops.

Ferris Students Face Charge Of Burglary For 8 Cases Of Beer

BIG RAPIDS, Mich.—(P)—Two Ferris Institute students faced court action today on a charge of breaking into a warehouse and taking eight cases of beer.

Police Chief Max Harroun quoted them as saying they "had been sitting around their fraternity house with nothing to do" and conceived the theft "just as a lark."

He said that Russell Sessions, 21, Lansing, a fullback on the Ferris football team; and Elmer Schultz, 21, Saginaw, demanded examination when arraigned before Justice of the Peace Milton J. Kelley on charges of breaking and entering.

Canadian Ship Stuck In St. Mary's River

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—(P)—The tug Favorite headed to the rescue today of a Canadian freighter aground in the East Neeshish channel of the St. Mary's river.

The loaded Canadian steamship lines vessel, City of Toronto, went aground early yesterday just below the Soo locks while making an upbound trip. The tug Iowa tried without success to free the craft. Today the two tugs will try together to pull the freighter free.

May Have Polio; Nadeau Woman Is Taken To Clinic

Mrs. Henry Oberthur, 36, of Nadeau, Menominee county, was taken to St. Luke's hospital at Marquette last night for observation at the clinic following a tentative diagnosis of polio by her physician.

A conclusive diagnosis in her case is not expected before Tuesday of next week.

To the week ending Sept. 22 there have been a total of 14 polio cases in the Upper Peninsula, including one in Delta county. One new case, in Ontonagon county, was reported for the week.

For the state as a whole to Sept. 22 there were 935 cases of which 129 were new for the week. This figure is compared to 2,133 cases for the same period one year ago, of which 165 were new; and 460 total for the year 1948, with 63 new cases, the state health department reported today.

New French Guards Protect Nation From Communist Uprisings

PARIS—(P)—France is planning to strengthen her hand against a Red fifth column in case of war by forming a new "territorial guard."

The defense ministry said the guard will protect internal communications, oppose attempts at sabotage, assure maintenance of order and fight infiltration of foreign elements.

French officials—and foreign observers here—have been concerned over internal danger from Communist dissidents should war break out. The cabinet decree announcing decision to establish the guard did not mention the Communists, but the wording clearly indicated it had them in mind.

"Ce Soir," the Communist party's semi-official paper, quickly dubbed the scheme the "Moch plan" after defense minister Jules Moch.

Moch, a socialist, is hated by the Communists for breaking their big postwar strikes when he was interior minister in control of police.

Truman And Marshall Accused Of Trying To Oust Gen. MacArthur

INDIANAPOLIS—(P)—President Truman and Secretary of Defense Marshall, says Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), "are conspiring to oust" General MacArthur from his Far East command after the Nov. 7 election.

Government circles in Washington are conscious of the bitter animosity held by President Truman and General Marshall against General Douglas MacArthur, Capehart told a Republican rally in suburban Southport last night.

Capehart, campaigning for reelection, said MacArthur has advocated supporting China's Nationalist government and "opposed the Marshall-Truman policy which delivered China to the Reds" and "brought on the Korean war."

Capehart added that General MacArthur "warned the president not to withdraw our troops from South Korea in the first place because it would take the blood of our boys to recover it if we left South Korea helpless, but that is exactly what happened."

Cohen Buys $16,000 Armor Plated Auto; Now He Can't Use It

LOS ANGELES—(P)—Mickey Cohen has a brand new $16,000 armor-plated Cadillac but it may have to stay in the garage.

The highway patrol—which passes on armored vehicles in California—yesterday denied the gambling czar a permit to operate the custom-built car.

Cohen—several times a target of gunfire bursts in recent years—was taken aback.

"I don't care about myself, understand," he said. "But what am I gonna do for instance when my mother comes to visit? x x x and my wife! I gotta have some protection for the family, don't I?"

The car has eight-inch thick doors each weighing 100 pounds because of a slab of bullet-proof fiberglass inside. There are steel armor plates inside the seats and the extra-thick windows won't have to be rolled down. The car has an $800 air conditioning system.

But it will just have to stand awhile on its $400 worth of bullet-proof tires. Says a highway patrol spokesman, explaining permits are granted only to armored express companies and bank messengers.

"If a permit is issued to one gambler, there will be 10,000 armored cars on the road and the police would never be able to stop them."

Glib Detroit Pleads Innocent In $3,500 Death Note Extortion

DETROIT—(P)—William F. Welke, 24, named as the glib young man who extorted $3,500 from the mother of a University of Michigan classmate, pleaded innocent yesterday.

Welke was brought into recorder's court on a formal charge of extortion from Mrs. Katherine Vasu in 1949.

Police said Welke admitted framing a death threat against Mrs. Vasu's son, Cordell, who lived in the same university dormitory with him.

After accepting Welke's plea of innocent, Judge Charles W. Jones placed the young man under $2,000 bond and ordered an examination Oct. 5.

Welke was trapped, police said, when he tried a similar stunt recently against the parents of another classmate, a coed.

Acorn With Sprout Found In Girl's Nose

PENSACOLA, Fla.—(P)—Four-year-old Julia Ann King was brought to a hospital here.

Julia Ann had a sore nose, reported her mother, Mrs. George King of Milton. In addition, she had been upset and had lost her appetite, Mrs. King said.

Doctors operated, removed an acorn from Julia Ann's nose. Attendents looked closely at the acorn—it had sprouts.

Seoul Restored To South Korea; Reds On The Run

These were in addition to the bodies of 40 American prisoners of war found in a covered trench in the rear of the Taejon police station.

Eighteen more Americans and 787 South Koreans were reported massacred at Chongju, 22 miles north of Taejon. Captured Reds made the reports to First Cavalry intelligence officers, saying 600 had been shot and 187 blown to bits with dynamite.

Prisoners at Seoul had been removed by the fleeing Reds.

Streets In Ruin
MacArthur's cavalcade of staff cars, flown from Tokyo and filled with brass and braid at Seoul's Kimpo airfield, served as the victory parade in the Korean capital. It drove over rubble streets flanked by the blackened ruins of the capital building.

Hundreds of civilians lined the streets. Few applauded. They seemed too stunned to realize the United Nations' first armed peace-enforcement campaign had liberated their city.

In the capital building, shattered glass tinkled down on the high allied officials from the blasted dome during the 35-minute noon ceremony in the assembly room. Earlier in the day security officers found a cluster of dynamite sticks with a wire attached in the capitol. The crude bomb was removed before MacArthur arrived.

Military and political observers in Tokyo told AP Correspondent Relman Morin they expected allied forces to be ordered into North Korea to take Pyongyang and push to the borders of Red China.

Las Vegas Observes National Dog Week By Shooting Pooches

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—(P)—This city is still celebrating National Dog Week today, but those pooches which haven't already been shot to death would rather forego the festivities.

It all started last week when the city decided there were too many dogs running around loose. Poundmaster Lee Oberman was told to get rid of them as best he could.

So Oberman and an assistant loaded up their rifles and went dog hunting. They bagged about 250. It was after the carcasses were piled in the city dump that the citizens, led by Humane Society member Mrs. Guy Murphy, began holding their noses and protesting.

The poundmaster said he only followed orders; that the dogs were endangering children on the streets. The city agreed to conduct a mass burial of the slaughtered canines and to stop the shooting.

That was on Monday. Today Mrs. Murphy complains, the city has enlisted the aid of children in rounding up stray dogs. There's a bounty of 25 cents on males, 15 cents on females.

But the youngsters are barely making expenses. Right now, a dog is a rather scarce item in Las Vegas.

Soapstone is used chiefly in roofing paper, foundry facings, insecticides, and as a filler for asphaltic paints.
